This may have been the millionth time you've heard/read this but... Congratulations! It truly is an incredible feat to find your life partner and I can't wait to capture the love on your special day.

A celebration of love lasts all night long but time after time, we need to be reminded of just how amazing that celebration was. Couples who choose Darling Photography and Designs to capture their day are transported back to each moment of their special day with imagery that captures every detail, the panoramic landscapes, tingling champagne sensation and the butterflies in your stomach. The moments that matter, captured in stunning high resolution.
